

National Council of Jewish Women to host candidates forum on: October 05, 2016 In: Local, News

The JCRC (a program of JEWISHcolorado) and the NCJW Colorado section, will sponsor the Candidates Forum 2016, a forum open to the general public that provides a platform for meeting the 2016 political candidates and also promotes a lively discussion amongst them.

Hosted by Kyle Dyer, formerly of 9News, Denver's NBC affiliate and now journalist and owner of Kyle Dyer Storytelling, the event will offer the public an opportunity to first meet candidates for state and federal offices and to learn more about various ballot initiatives. Then, the meet and greet event will be followed by a forum where candidates for the U.S. Senate and U.S. House of Representatives will have an opportunity to address questions presented them. The forum will begin Monday, Oct. 10 at 6 p.m. Candidates will meet and then at 7 p.m. the candidates forum will be held at the Robert E. Loup JCC Elaine Wolf Theatre, 350 S. Dahlia St., Denver.

Forum participants to date include Commissioner Darryl Glenn, Casper Stockham, Congressman Jared Polis, Nic Morse, Rep. Ken Buck, Bob Seay, Misty Plowright, Rep. Mike Coffman, State Sen. Morgan Carroll, Rep. Ed Perlmutter, and George Athanasopoulos.

To register for the Candidates Forum event visit jewishcolorado.org/candidates-forum-registration or contact Events at 303-316-6484; Events@JEWISHcolorado.org.