Quality Systems Inc. in Irvine and its chief executive have won top honors in the International Business Awards presented earlier this month in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates.

The International Business Awards, called the Stevies, honor achievements and positive contributions of businesses and executives worldwide.

Quality Systems was named the Company of the Year, Computer Services. It was the only Orange County company to win top honors. Its CEO Steven T. Plochocki was named IT executive of the year.

Plochocki said, "Quality Systems and its management team have been acknowledged on many levels across various awards programs during the past several years but we consider this to be a very significant recognition. In the International Business Awards competition, we were pitted against some of the world's leading organizations, and to emerge a winner... is a real testament to our hard-working team."

Quality Systems Inc. develops software to manage U.S. medical and dental practices and electronic health records. In addition to company of the year honor, the company received "distinguished honoree" recognition in the computer software and the health products and services categories.

Two other Orange County companies were distinguished honorees in their industries:

- Epicor Software Corp. in Irvine, for computer software category; and best new product, software category
- SYSPRO, Costa Mesa, for computer software category
